

From the Minister

When it is all over...

The day after. The week. The month. Handling our elation or disappointment after November 8 will be challenging. How we manage our exhaustion, enthusiasm, anxieties, fears and certainty is a spiritual discipline. It requires attention as individuals, as well as a church and a nation of citizens.

Unitarian Universalists have tools for moving forward when all feels broken. We also have skills for times when all feels just right. They are really the same tools. We view the world as interconnected. Everything we do falls from that position.

How does this work after an endless election cycle that increasingly divided families, co-workers, politicians, and playgrounds?

We begin with ourselves. We are gentle with ourselves. We pay attention to all the feelings that arise. We notice and name. We rest, if rest is needed. We get active, when motion and change are required.

Next we give the same generous attention and space to others around us. Just another version of you. While Uncle Frank may have stood for everything you oppose, you can begin to see parts of his life echo your own. You begin to see other ways Aunt Lucy is actually living a life with courage. You rediscover the humanity in some you have called your "enemy."

It is seductive to reject all who have been insensitive, dishonest, bullying, or dismissive. Yet, we are tasked to see the humanity in all, especially when they are wrong-headed, stupid, and hurtful. Why? Because we too have been these corrupt things and likely will again in our lifetime or in the next hour. As the Buddhist tradition reminds us, "Your enemy is your precious teacher."

Make a fresh, rich-with-possibilities start. Peel off any old bumper stickers. Pull out dated yard signs. Clean out your Facebook and Twitter feed. Consider replacing them all with, "Just another version of you." The phrase borrowed from producer and activist Norman Lear captures an aspect of Universalism. We human creatures are in this life together. We are more alike than different.

What is different now? Anything? What did the election show us about ourselves that need attention and revising first? What do we see in our communities? How do we create ways to stay involved and connected with each other for the long haul

Joyfully,

Rev. Cathey Edwards

October Theme—Emotional Intelligence

Our feelings demand two kinds of attention. First, they are helpful facts. Each passing feeling gives us data into our personal response to any given moment. Emotional intelligence means being able to notice and name your feelings.

Since not every person will have the same feeling in the same situation, an emotion is also transient and varies in intensity. No single feeling comes and stays forever. The second part of emotional intelligence is noticing this temporariness and ebb and flow. Emotional maturity is learning when to take action spurred by an emotion and when to wait for it to pass.

We talk about this as a church community because how we handle our feelings affects how we interact with each other. Emotional intelligence is learned. It is shaped by family patterns. Join us as we explore emotional intelligence as individuals and as a community.

About Our Monthly Themes

Hope Church is a questioning community. It is a safe place to bring doubt and new ideas.

Our monthly themes express Hope Church's openness to theological exploration. They are not an endorsement of any particular creed or belief. Instead, they provide a monthly opportunity to examine in common a religious doctrine or idea.

If you are not receiving Touchstones, the electronic newsletter on the monthly theme, please let our administrator, Maggie Scott, know at hopeuu@hopeuu.org.

Upcoming Sundays

We have postponed our Animal Blessing service slated for Nov 6. We likely will hold it in the spring.

Both Christmas and New Year's fall on Sunday. We will have simple, abbreviated, family-friendly music-filled 11:00 am worship both Sundays. There will be no 10:00 am Sunday Forum or Children's Religious Education. There will be a New Year's potluck near 11:30am following worship on Jan 1, 2017.

Religious Education for Children and Youth

Sundays 10:00 am—12:00 pm

Religious education is focused on the theme of the month as well as curriculum designed to help Hope’s young ones discover answers to life’s big questions. The curriculum includes chapel, religious education about Unitarian Universalism and other faiths, art, nature and outdoor experiences. Parents are always welcome to join their children in our religious exploration.

November Programs & Events

November begins with Elizabeth Obal teaching willing children a hymn that they will lead the congregation in during the Sing Noel service on December 11. Please encourage your child to participate.

Ren Pasco, Hope’s seminarian, will lead the youth in learning about and experiencing Chalica. Chalica is a week-long celebration of our Unitarian Universalist Principles that first emerged in 2005 out of a wish to have a holiday organized around Unitarian Universalist values.

Children and youth will also be learning, along with you, about this month’s theme, Emotional Intelligence. We will explore feelings, what they are, how they can help us and how they can harm us and others.

Also, beginning this month, Hope’s parents’ group “It Takes a Village” will meet the third Sunday of the month at 9:00 am. Childcare is provided without reservation. Susan Farma Hai will facilitate the group and the topic will be parenting strategies. Please join us.

Thanks to a generous Hope friend, Dana Morris, our children and youth will have yoga one Sunday a month beginning in November. Dana is donating her time, so if you see her, please let her know how much you appreciate her work

See you in church!

Music Notes

Our monthly theme is “Feelings,” and as we proceed further into the fall season and the time of Thanksgiving our music can evoke feelings of thanksgiving for our community and loved ones, for the beauty around us, and for life itself. The choir will set the tone for the month with the stirring anthem, “How Can I Keep From Singing,” arranged by Bradley Ellingboe. We will also invoke feelings of home, place, and family through the lovely song, “Homeward Bound,” by Marta Keen. Nothing encapsulates one’s sense of gratitude and thankfulness more than John Bucchino’s beautiful song, “Grateful,” which will be sung by Larry Sharp.

Meanwhile, the Hope Singers continue to prepare for our “Sing, Noel” service on December 11. Those who would like to sing with us for the “Sing, Noel!” service can rehearse with us starting at 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday evenings (except for the Wednesday before Thanksgiving) in the sanctuary. Let us know if you are in need of childcare so that this may be arranged for you

Garden and Grounds

It has officially been Fall for some weeks now, but so far the weather Gods haven't seemed to notice. It is way too warm and way too dry for the optimum comfort of many humans. It is dusty underfoot and some leaves are falling early. Only a few late flowers offer nectar to a lingering butterfly. The sumac is red in the woods.

The pond that has held at least some water for the last three years is now nearly dry (as it has been through many previous cycles). It always amazes me that the frogs and turtles and a myriad of other water creatures know what to do and when, and bury themselves for safekeeping. Other flying and crawling creatures lay the last set of eggs and die. Those eggs "know" not to hatch until warmth and rains return. It is easy to see how early peoples believed in "spontaneous generation". So much goes on out of sight and out of mind. With our microscopes and laboratories, we have studied so many things. They are no less amazing for all our scientific understanding and perhaps even more so. .

New project on the hill. A scout working on his Eagle project will be repurposing the old air conditioner pad area west of the patio to be an outdoor chapel for the children. There will be a new retaining wall, privacy fences (to screen the equipment), benches and (someday) a garden area. Old fences will come down, the bushes will be pruned back and Susan wants a painted labyrinth. I see (someday) with some rock repositioning and a path by the rain garden, that it could connect invitingly to the existing main back patio and be another outdoor area for everyone to use at church events.

Hope's Care Team

The holidays can be an especially difficult time. The Care Team, with this in mind, has prepared an extensive list of Unitarian – friendly therapists. These therapist have a varied range of specialties, from treatment of children to specific adult issues. If you would like to look over this list, please do not hesitate to contact someone on the Care Team, Tara Saylor (telltara@gmail.com, 918-933-8198), or Rev. Cathey Edwards. Your query will be confidential.

The Care Team has been busy making homemade cards for our congregation. If you know of anyone in our congregation who might appreciate a friendly gesture such as a card, please do let the Care Team know. Your concerns will be confidential.

As always, if you (or someone in the congregation you know) is experiencing an especially difficult time, the Care Team is here to provide hospital visits, meals, cards and company. We would like to support you in these ways during the holidays and beyond.

With Care, Tara Saylor and Deborah Whittaker

Hope's Star Tree Supporting Lindsey House

Sunday, November 20, members of the Outreach Committee will decorate a small tree in the Fellowship Hall with stars. This is Hope's Star Tree. Each star represents a gift for members of the 12 families we have adopted from Lindsey House. This is how you can help:

- * Choose a star from the tree,
- * Purchase a gift (All star items should be new) by December 11
- * Wrap it, attach the star to the gift securely, bring it back to Hope and place in the box provided.

If you prefer to make a cash donation an Outreach member can shop for any stars left after the deadline date. Any extra money will be used to buy donations such as sheets and towels for Lindsey House. There will be envelopes on the tree for cash donations. Please write checks to Hope with "Star Tree" noted in the memo line.

President's Report

I have been fortunate this past month to have gone on several trips. It has kept me from attending church, but my thoughts have been with you. I have no more planned, so you will be seeing me more now.

We had an Eagle Scout attend the October board meeting to present and request approval for his Eagle Scout project. He will be turning the pad where the HVAC unit previously sat into an outdoor chapel. Susan Spooner has wanted this for a while, so we are fortunate that he wants to do this. He will be returning next month to present the final plans.

At the board meeting, I felt we got several policies passed which are needed. There was a website privacy policy and a website terms and conditions. These are needed on our website for legal reasons. Rev. Cathey and Susan Spooner have done a wonderful job on the new website. Of course, it is a continuing work. Another policy which we passed was a RE policy which essentially says our church provides and supports a strong Religious Education Program.

I am hoping everyone will sign up for attending the auction. It is always fun and there are so many opportunities to bid on wonderful items/events.

I am pleased to see the Green Sanctuary Committee and the Membership Committee get started for this year. Richard Jackson and Janet Williamson have done such a wonderful job of getting our Green Sanctuary status for the church and they will continue to be helpful in assisting Ann Lee and her committee in moving forward.

We will be looking into ways to get congregation involvement in establishing the mission and vision for our church. We feel there may be some outside help that could help us with the process. More to come on this.

By the way, Board members will be having yellow ribbons on their name tags to help the congregation identify them. Hopefully, it will help you know who to approach if you want the board to look into something.

I continue to be amazed at the talent in our congregation. I am so proud to be a leader of a group that gets things done. I love my church family. Take care.
